

prevent

Keeping people in their home is the best approach to the prevention of homelessness. We mitigate the loss of housing to avoid the trauma of eviction and homelessness.

Luis was able to turn his situation around through our Homelessness Prevention Program after the loss of his job resulted in rent insecurity.

We identify and quickly connect people experiencing homelessness with basic needs like safety, food, and shelter, then link them to services to begin resolving their crisis immediately.

Heather and Joe were some of the first participants of our Interim Housing Program when it opened during the pandemic as an alternative to our emergency PADS shelters.

We end homelessness one person at a time through housing. Safe, stable housing is the foundation on which become self-sufficient and rebuild their confidence so they can not only live, but thrive in their community.

Terrance exited our Permanent Supportive Housing once he was able to stabilize his housing situation with the support of his case manager.
